So just what goes on up there anyway? That's the beauty of this innovative new plan featuring an extra bonus room. It's where the kids go to play or it houses all of the home workout gear. It is tucked out of the way, so you decide how you want to use it. The main floor features 2,096 square feet of the quality and functional design you have come to expect from DH Construction and Development, Inc. The gathering point of the home is the great room with nine foot ceilings and formal dining area. All of this sits in West Valley's premier development "Creekview". Let us help you select a plan and a lot that fits your lifestyle.
